REFUGEE
The life ahead.

A photograph of a family of four standing in front of a wooden fence. The father is on the left, holding a young girl in a pink hoodie. The mother is on the right, wearing a colorful headscarf and holding a young boy. The boy is wearing a blue long-sleeved shirt and has a small tattoo on his left hand. The girl is wearing a pink hoodie with the word "EMBR" visible. The father is wearing a blue and grey jacket. The mother is wearing a blue long-sleeved shirt. The background is a wooden fence.

ANNUAL REPORT ²⁰²⁰

Dear Friends,

It would be an understatement to say that 2020 was an unusual year. In March, our lives changed almost overnight, as many of us began working remotely and limiting our contact with our friends and family members. Several of Exodus's clients, including those who had been self-sufficient for years, found themselves dealing with unexpected job losses and isolation.

With your help, Exodus quickly pivoted and began providing services virtually. We helped clients navigate new challenges, like quarantining when they first arrived in the United States, understanding the virtual platforms they would need for work and school, and understanding changing health orders and information. Demand for services like English classes and mental health services soared, and our employment team kept busy helping clients who had been laid off to find new jobs.

Despite these challenges, your support allowed us to provide services to 939 clients in 2020, including 175 clients who were newly resettled in our community. As these clients began new lives in the midst of a global crisis, I was reminded that when we come together to support refugees, incredible things can happen.

With immigration policies swiftly changing, Exodus is prepared to welcome hundreds more refugees in the coming year. Fortunately, I know that we have the backing of donors, volunteers, and other supporters like you. Together, we will work to welcome these refugees into our community.
