Post 2024 Election Answers for those with Temporary Protected Status (TPS)

What should I do now to ensure I can remain in the U.S.?

You should ensure your status is current, or renew it if you are eligible. You may also want to pursue alternative status, such as asylum.

If I already have TPS, can it be taken away? If so, when?

TPS cannot be taken away immediately, but it can be non-renewable at the end of its designation period. Though we cannot be certain, it is unlikely that TPS will be renewed for most populations.

Where can I find my current TPS designation period?

You can visit this website: <https://www.uscis.gov/humanitarian/temporary-protected-status>

Can I be deported if I have TPS?

Generally, no, unless there is a significant criminal issue.

Are there certain documents I should carry to prove I am here legally?

You can carry your EAD.
